REFLECTIONS

The reflection in the mirror is an elusive one -
Who is this person?
Who was this person?
Who will this person become?

We cast an image that seems so familiar.
Yet it appears strange to us at times.

This image gets distorted and becomes a new image with remnants of the old.

The faces of people we meet reflect the image we cast.
Was that a smile I saw?
or was I merely hoping so?

The image fades.
The edges become unclear.
The misty picture slowly disappears.
Without a reflection now a person can be whoever he wants to be.

Passing by quickly
we catch a glimpse of an image in a window.
Was that me?
or was that you?

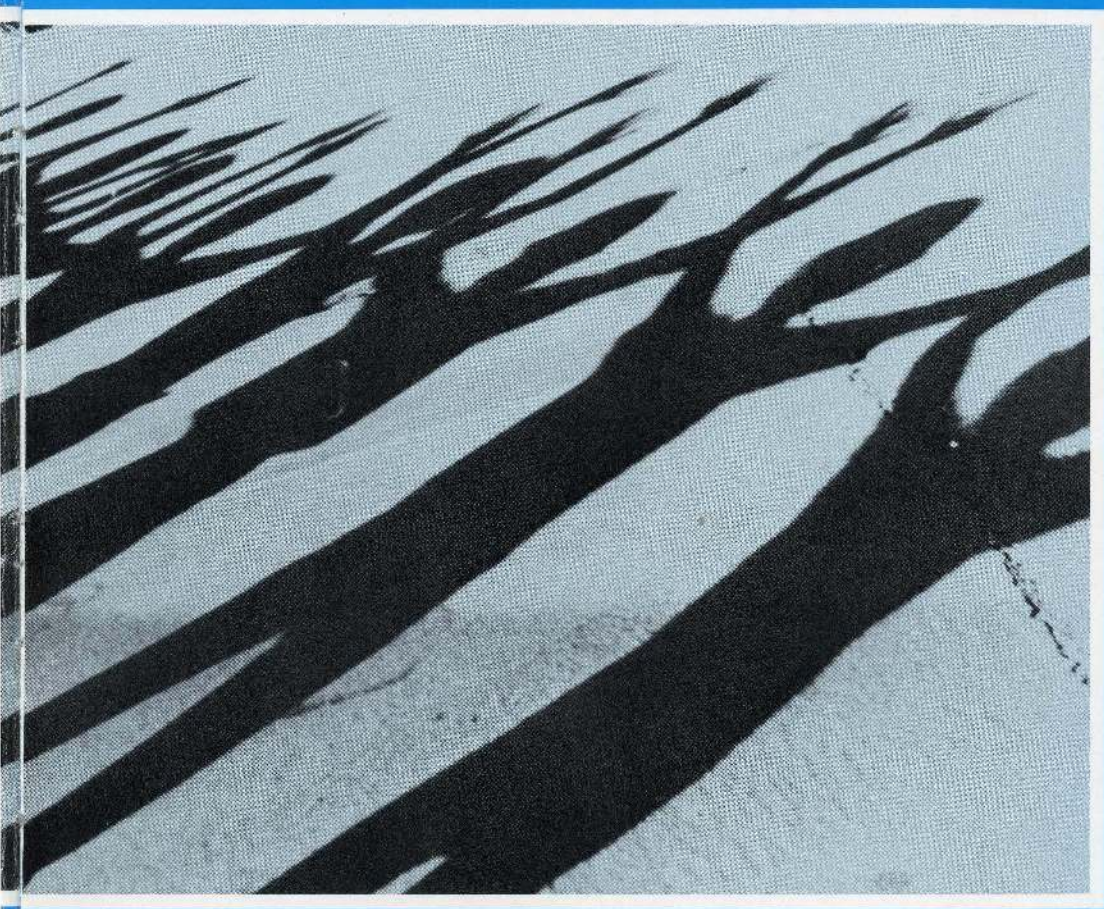

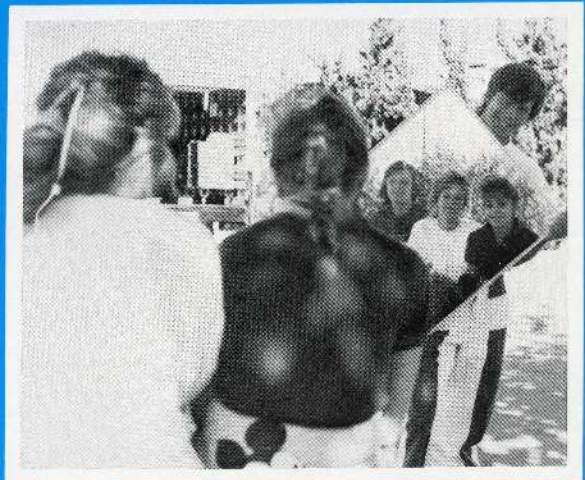

It looked so young,
too young to know that this image is so temporary.

The reflection appears to be less real than that which it is reflecting.

We can touch it
but it isn't there.
The qualities we reflect can cast a light which brightens the world.

The reflection, after all,
Is very real indeed.

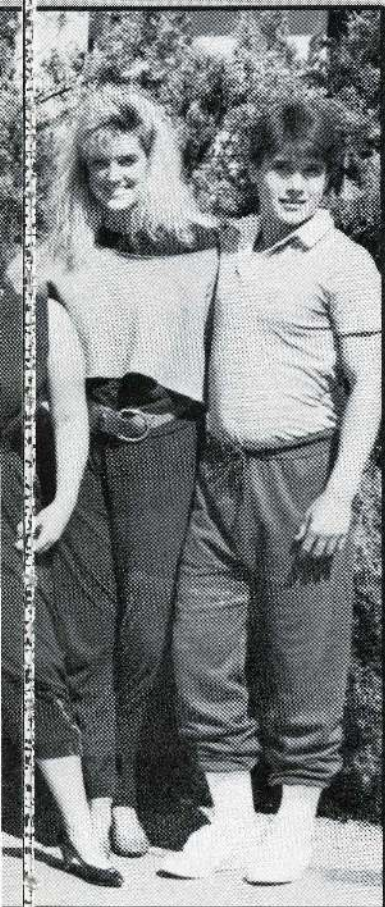

We are proud to say that this year-book REFLECTS the ideas and creativity of many people. Thank you to everyone who helped make this venture a reality. So many of you bought the book, posed for endless pictures, and generally got behind the spirit of Visions 1987. We spent many hours pouring over ideas, photos and layouts with one basic idea in mind: we wanted you to have the best. We hope we have provided you with a look back onto past good times. Now, you have a reflection - a clear picture of the way it was.

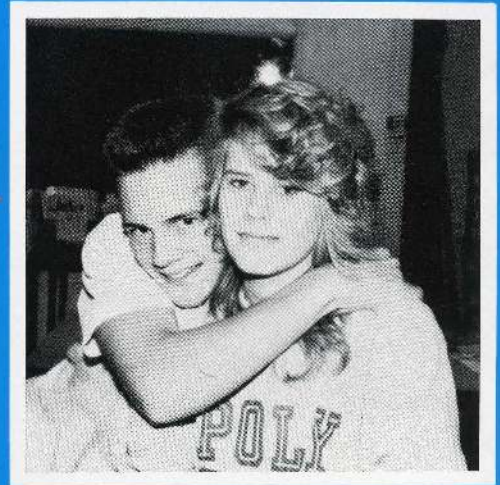

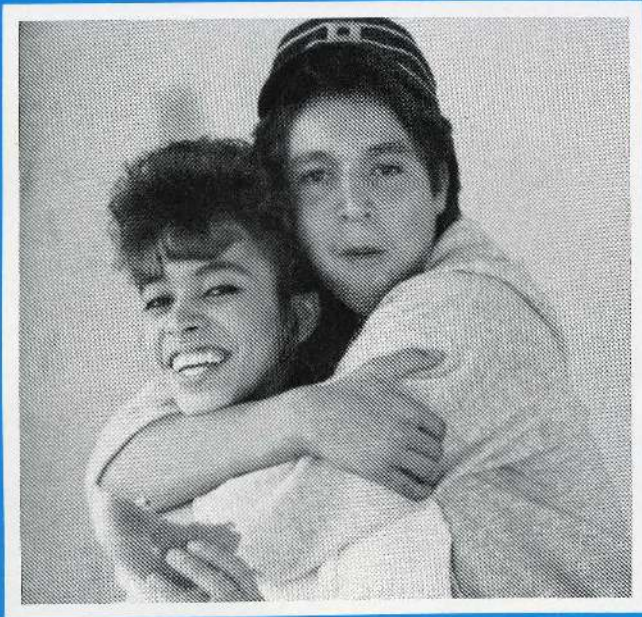

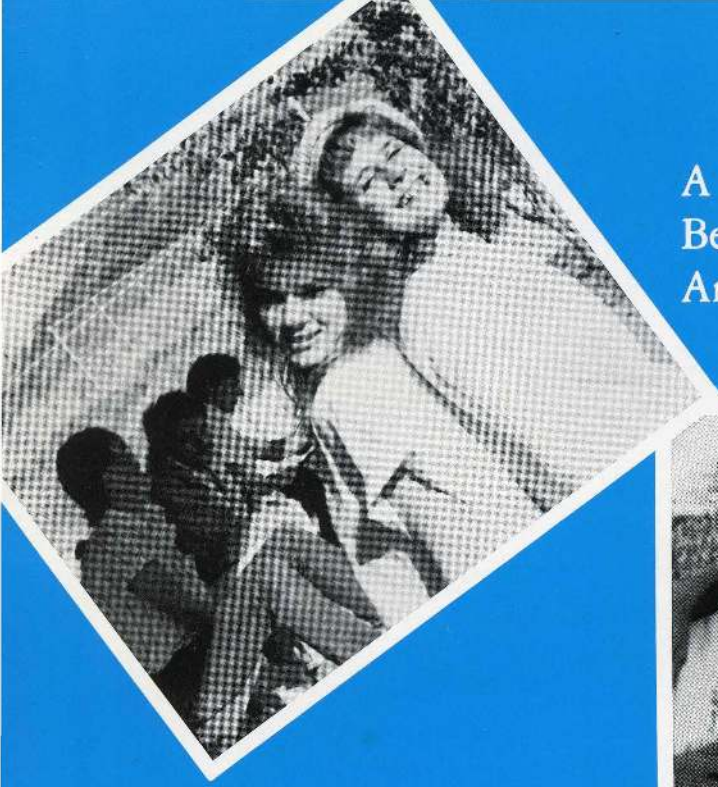

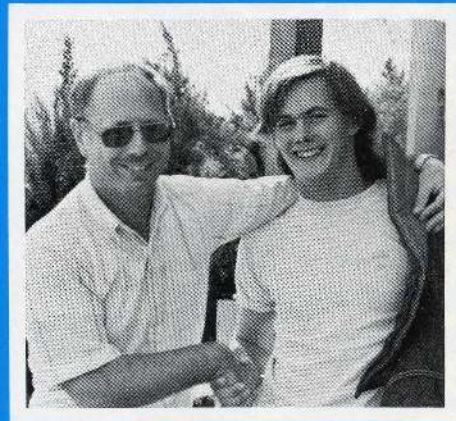

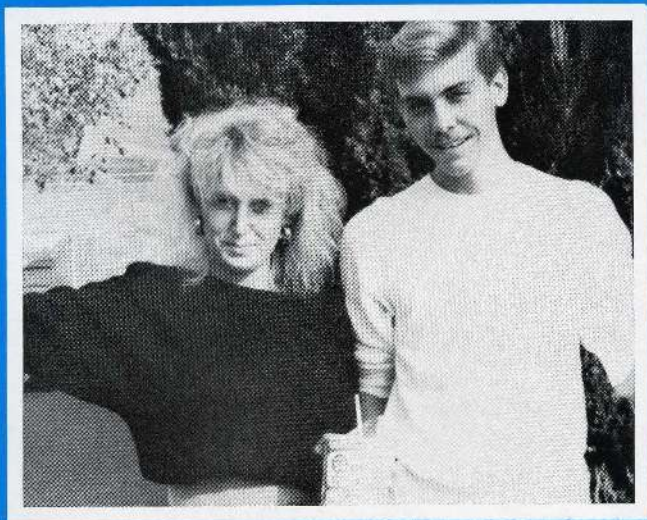

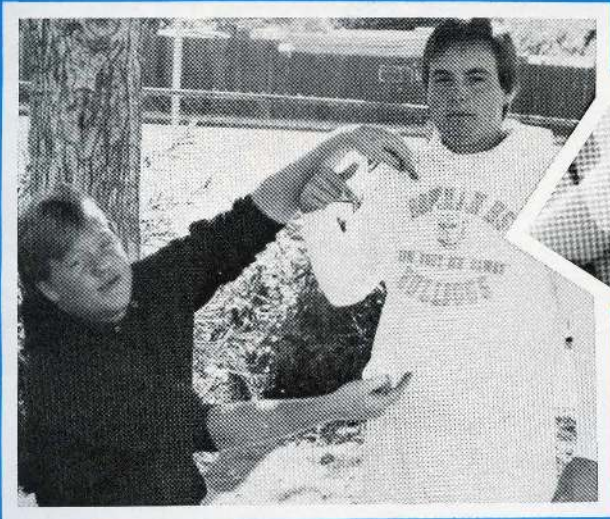

THE VISIONS STAFF '87.

Arlene Brunker, Brett Friedman, Pep Gonzales, Kelly Goodwin, Shannon Hasbrook, Melody Holt, Nikki McGrane, Ernie Ozuna, Chris Simmonds, Rob Stanfield

A friend is someone who you can trust,
Be honest with,
And tell your deepest secrets to.

A friend is someone you can lean on and who'll help through the good and bad times.

Leaders of the Pack

Back to school 50's day was great! A lot of students and faculty dressed up in original garb as "greasers," "lettermen," and "cool-lookin-chicks" in poodle skirts and pony tails. We all had a great time in front of Jegg Stabile's '57 Chevy. Thanks Mr. Stabile, and thanks to Peg Effertz for talking him into it. Also, thanks to A.S.B. - What's next, the 60's and love beads?

Surrounded by a world of modern technology,
We the youth of today
Reflect the knowledge
Of generations to come.

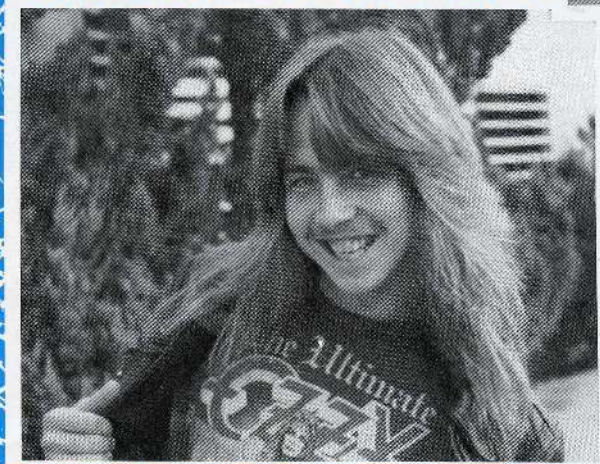

Horrific Halloween

Halloween Activity Day this year was just as wild and wonderful as always. Teachers and students alike dressed up with a lot of imagination. Greg and Brian came as their favorite Republicans, while Mr. Artzer appeared briefly as Jaws, the shark we all know and love. Geeky ghouls and slightly sexy sweeties were spotted all over campus. Volleyball, pumpkin carving and face painting added to the fun - but the most outrageous of all was the tricycle team race with Roger's class declared the winner. Congratulations also are in order to Brett Friedman and Arlene Bruncker as winners of the costume contest.

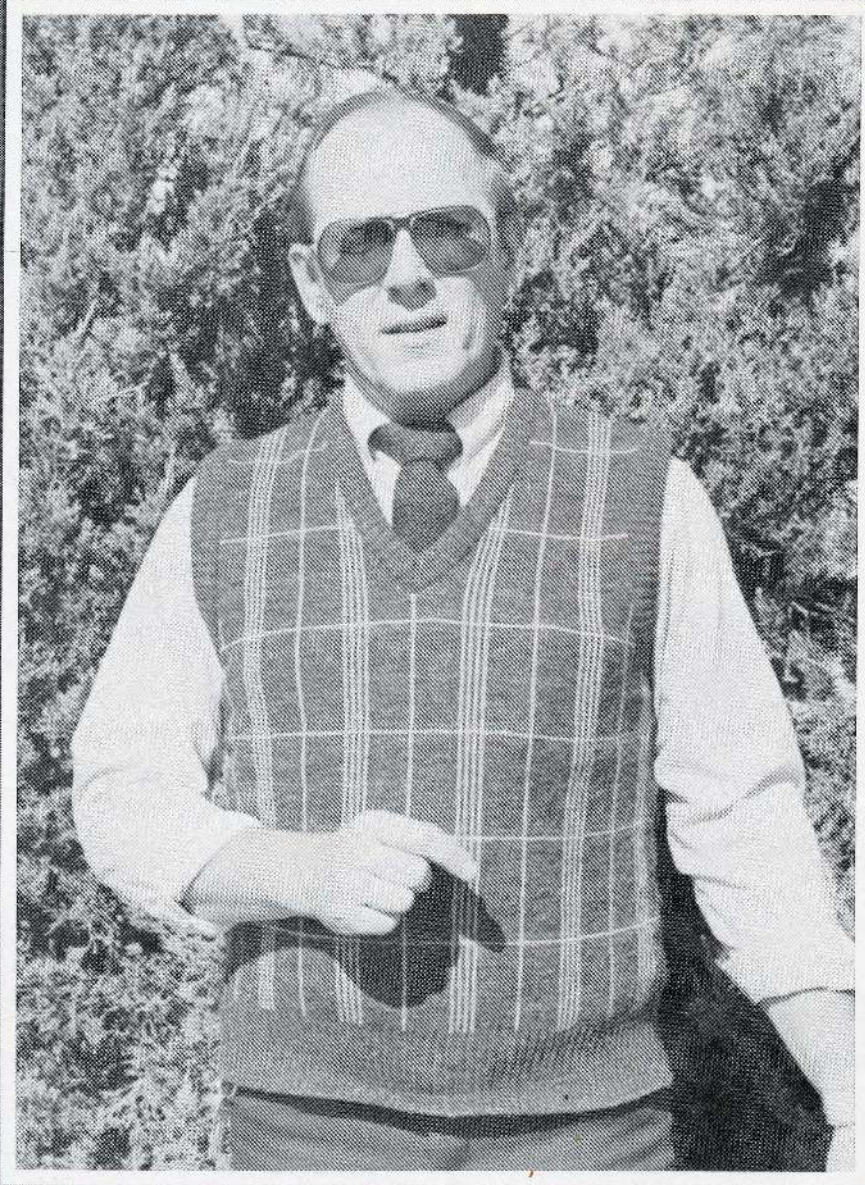

Exotic & Neurotic

This year, imagination and creativity went wild. Students expressed their individuality with a lot of flair. Some of the things the Visions Staff spotted were fringed everything, pink hair, long hair, trendy hair, no hair, surfer t-shirts, concert t-shirts, lace stockings and boots of all kinds.

Reflections from Our Principal

... And the Bowman staff looked into the water and the reflection said that they were not only adults, but TEACHERS of young adults - many of whom have been caught up in a storm. But there is always a time and a place to come in out of the rain and Bowman is such a time and place - "to be" or be "sent to". Staff and students are bound in a special friendship where each accepts each other's shortcomings and the staff believes that the marvelous thing about education is not that it opens doors to jobs, money, and things - but that it opens doors of the mind and choices never opened before.

When one cannot think of anything to do one ceases to think at all and I would suggest that Bowman offers an alternative to the storm of boredom, "failure", rejection and often, to drugs - perhaps the biggest con and lie of all time. Never look back and think, "It could have been," because Bowman says, "IT CAN BE". Freedom can be frightening but each of you has the freedom to choose - to become a director and architect of your life instead of a spectator or victim.

As principal of Bowman, I hope to help produce a reflection of each of you - for you - as I think you CAN BE because, perhaps, my vision, is more ambitious than yours. Take a chance - and come in out of the rain.

MR. RICHARD ARTZER

DEDICATION TO OUR STAFF

When students are asked what it is about Bowman that's so special, most of us answer, in our own way, that we at Bowman feel like family. Just as in a family, each staff member brings a unique style and approach to teaching, and each of us has at least one member of the staff who is very special to us. In our reflections of life and learning, this special person will live forever as one who gave us their knowledge, their caring, and their sincere wishes for our growth and success. Since we are fortunate enough that any given student might supply any of ten names for this special staff member, the yearbook staff would like to dedicate this year's visions to the entire certificated staff of Bowman High School. Specifically to:

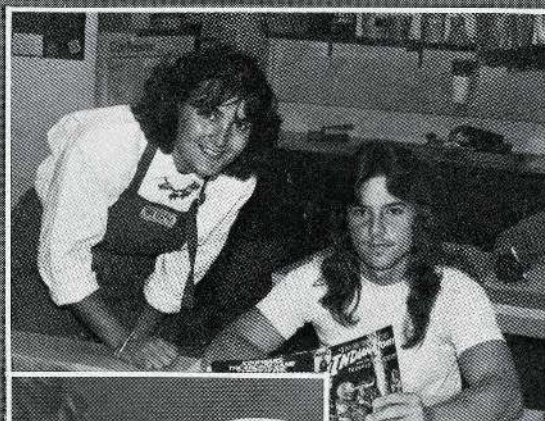

Donna for her dedication to precision and attention to the individual, Greg for his quick-witted efforts to enrich our school activities, to Brian for his humor and his insistence on academic excellence, Debbie for exhausting hours teaching us to understand integrity (and ourselves) through our art and our yearbook. Fumey for the many firsts she brought to Bowman and the varied life experiences with which she enlivens her classes, Shirley for the constant boosts to our self esteem while letting our left brain know what our right is doing, to Al for his philosophy that reading can be valued in a casual atmosphere, Mike for his easygoing willingness to lend a few cents or a few hours of compassionate listening, Toni for exceptional effort to help us see ourselves as we are, and set goals to make us what we want to be, and Mr. Artzer for a sure hand and clear vision of where our school should be headed, and what we need to get there. To you all we say thanks; this book's for you!

When yearbook staff questioned our faculty and support staff as to which quality of theirs they hoped to reflect onto the students . . . they answered as follows.

Al Scrase - Reading Teacher

Patience, understanding and empathy are some of the qualities I would like to see my students develop, as well as achieving and maintaining goals. I feel these attributes give meaning to life and an opportunity to discover one's self.

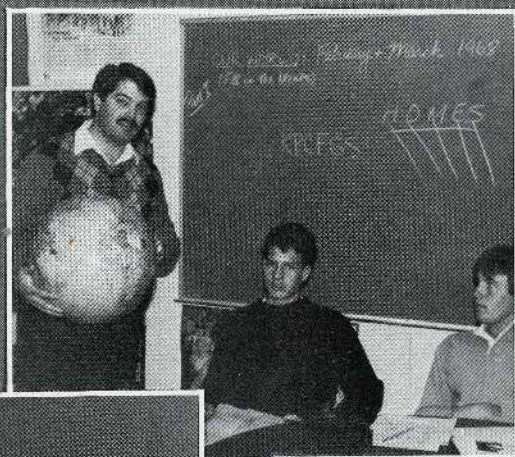

Debbie Hild - Art Teacher, Yearbook Advisor

I would like to reflect my courage to create. I hope that my students would always find THAT part of them which is fearless and allows them to try new things.

Donna Lindelef - Math Teacher

I would like to reflect my ability to "put myself into the other person's shoes."

Greg Herrick - Social Studies Teacher and A.S.B. Advisor

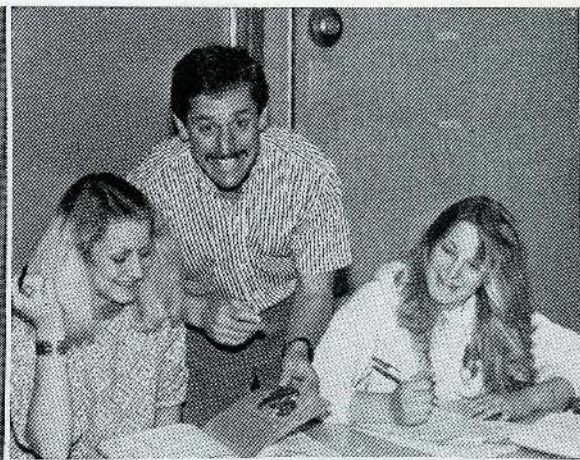

The measure of one's success in life is locating what you want to do, doing it well and to the best of your ability and being a good person while doing it. My hope is that my students would embrace this philosophy and strive to be the success that dwells within each and every one of them.

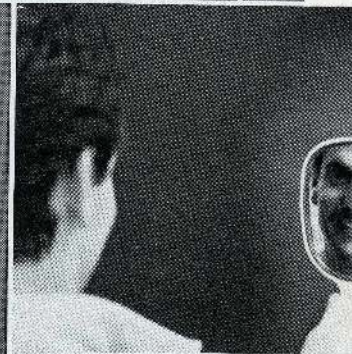

Shirley Wheeler - English Teacher

I would like to reflect acceptance of the BEST part of the self. I hope the students will learn to analyze their own strengths and talents and grow FROM them and WITH them.

Brian Stimay - Science Teacher

I would like to reflect my sense of discipline. I hope that my students will discipline themselves to never give up no matter how tuff times get.

Linda Tonkinson - Business and Home Economics Teacher

I would like to reflect enthusiasm. That students could experience joy and excitement in the small, ordinary things in life.

Roger Cahoon - Drivers Ed Teacher

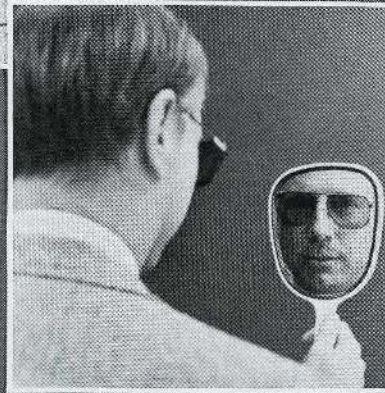

I would like to reflect a BIG IMAGE in all my student's minds, one of respect, sense of humor and the ability to do one's best.

Mike Ehrhart - Work Experience Coordinator

I would hope that my concern for how my students feel about themselves is reflected in the concern they show their own children some day.

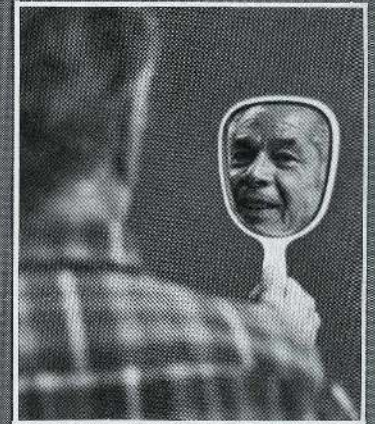

Joy Williamson - Instructional Assistant

I hope our students can perceive the good qualities in themselves and others so they can truly love themselves and the people who are part of their lives.

Johnny Inzuna - Custodian and Maintenance

I hope to reflect respect for the school property.

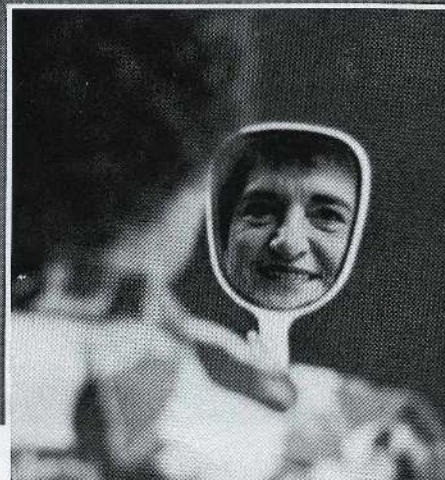

Sharon Mellinger - Campus Supervisor

I would like to reflect my love of life.

Juanita Haase - Instructional Assistant

Being creative with my crafts and hobbies. Feeling good about one's self and accomplishments.

Pat Peare - Campus Supervisor

I hope that I reflect patience and understanding. It is the quality that you can never have too much of.

Toni L. Miltenberger - Counselor

It is important to have the sense of feeling good about yourself—to be able to stand up for what you know is right. It's okay to be different; however, it's unacceptable not to do anything. It's forgivable to be wrong as long as we learn by our mistakes. We must be caring, supportive, respect others, and show tolerance.

Ann Zuccari - Instructional Assistant

I would like to reflect the power of loving and giving - with this comes the true sense of being.

Peg Effertz - Attendance Secretary

Patience . . . The patience to accept each day as it comes - and to make that day important in their own life and when they do, "they make my day".

Marsha Brigleb - Principal's Secretary

I would like to reflect my ability to use my common sense. This is a quality that is easy to overlook but if used can usually get you into a better situation.

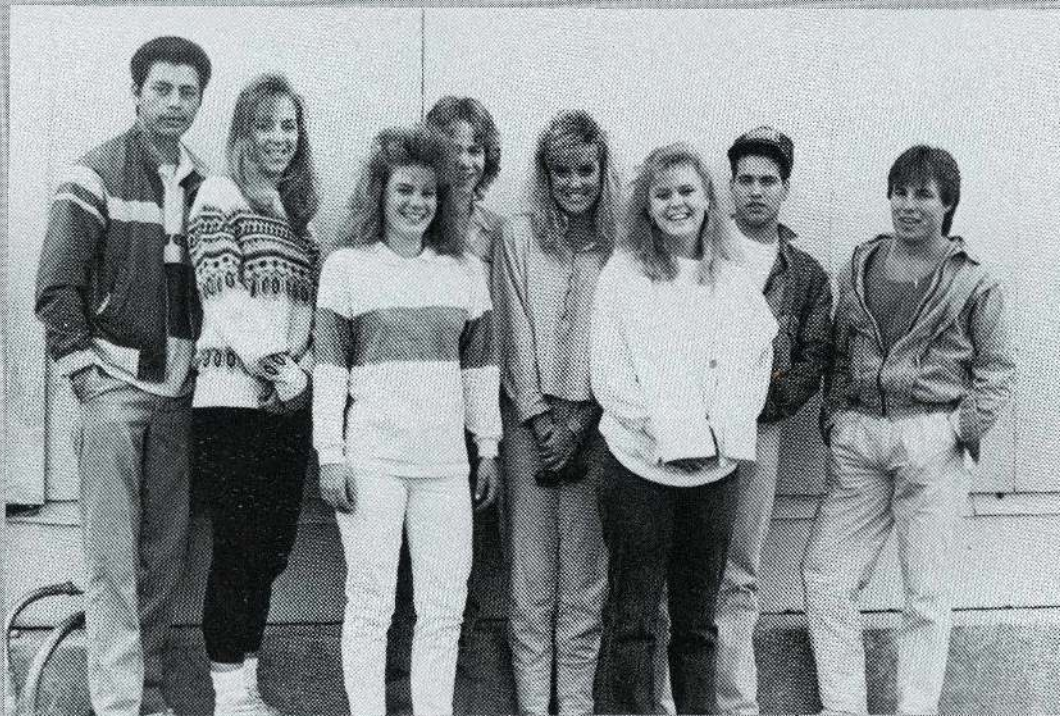

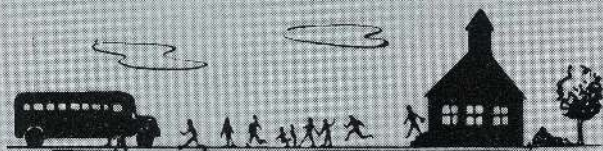

Outstanding Achievers

These students did a fantastic job of accumulating credits and of coming to school regularly. We applaud them for their perseverance, high standards, and positive attitude. They have set a fine example for all Bowman students.

The following students were involved in A.S.B. throughout the year: Denise Archer, Becky Checors, Royce Hager, Melody Holt, Keith Hood, Ann Lam, Shawna Mitre, Gina Newberry, Gina Sanchez, and Melissa Temple.

ACTIVITIES

There were many activities this year. Among the favorites were Halloween and the Canned Food Drive.

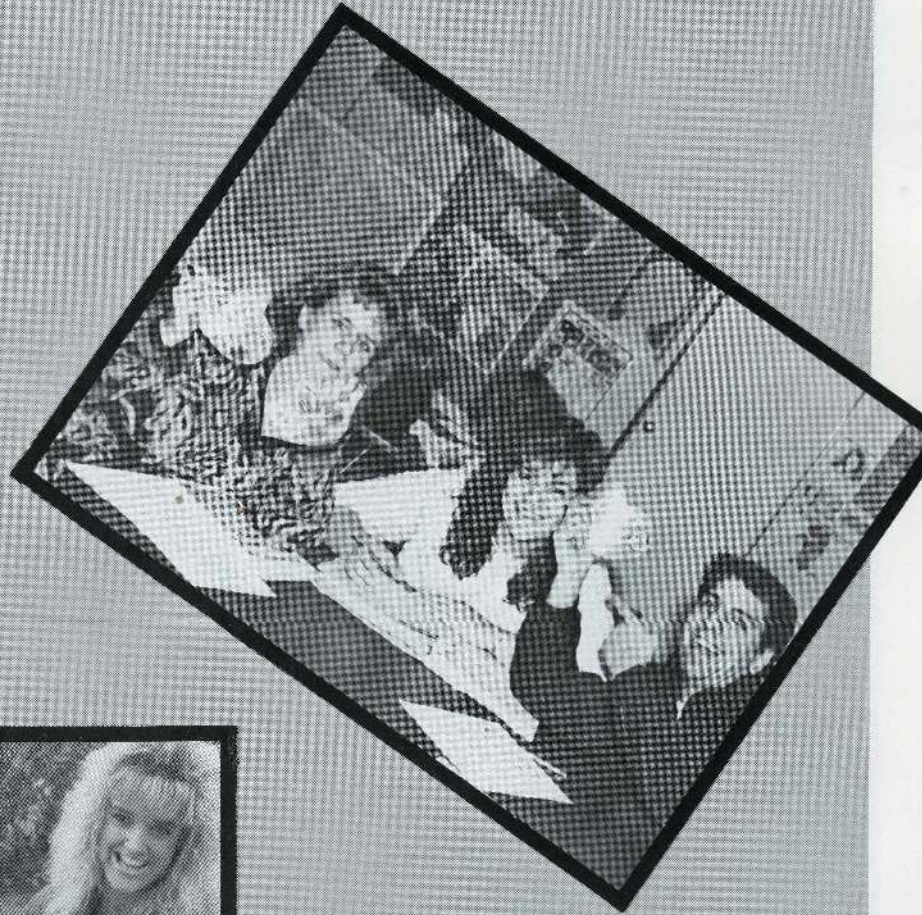

Some of the girls from leadership class became "The MONKEES" for a day in an annual lip-sink, at C.O.C. involving local high school A.S.B. members. They took third place winning $25.

When yearbooks first went on sale there was a drawing. The winner was Stacy West who won a $50. gift certificate from Tempo Records.

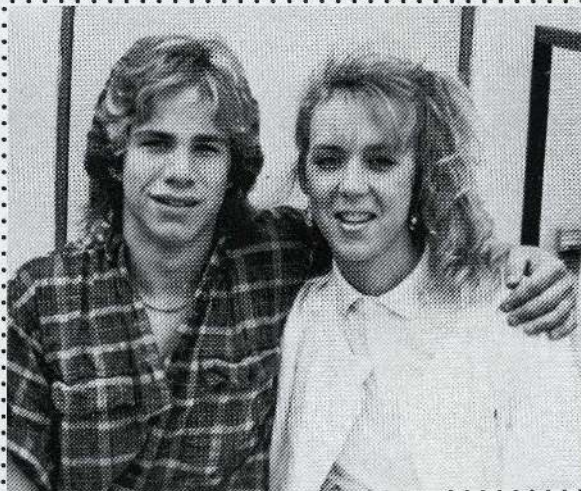

While munching on holiday goodies students and faculty got a surprise visit from Santa Claus. Everyone was delighted to tell Santa what they wanted as they sat on his lap.

There were many other events to make the rest of the year special including the Easter egg hunt, the '87 prom, and Bowman graduation.

Work Experience

The Work Experience Program is fortunate again this year to have students working in a variety of responsible employment positions. Students are able to earn credits by attending weekly classes which delve into topics such as a career planning, payroll and consumer affairs, among others. The important core of the Work Experience Program, however, lies in the value of the learning which takes place on the job. Our students take pride in the variety of jobs they perform, the quality of work they do, and the greater self sufficiency their earnings give them. We at Bowman join the business community in commending their efforts and sharing their pride.

Person to Person

A person is a person
No matter their belief.
Have faith in each other,
Not what you have heard,
Believe what you see,
Let no man bring deceit.
If love is what you feel,
Love is what you show,
If love is in your life,
And love is in your eye,
Then love is what you receive.
Always and somehow,
Let love be known
No matter what others are.

Gang Violence

Gang violence is out there every day
It's never going to go away.
If you burn one, you're gonna pay
Maybe not tonight, but soon, they say.
They use knives, guns, and chains,
They use them for their own gains.
They steal, cheat, and wheel and deal
They mug an old lady to buy a meal.
They'll always seek revenge
Because gang violence never ends.

The Price of a Friend

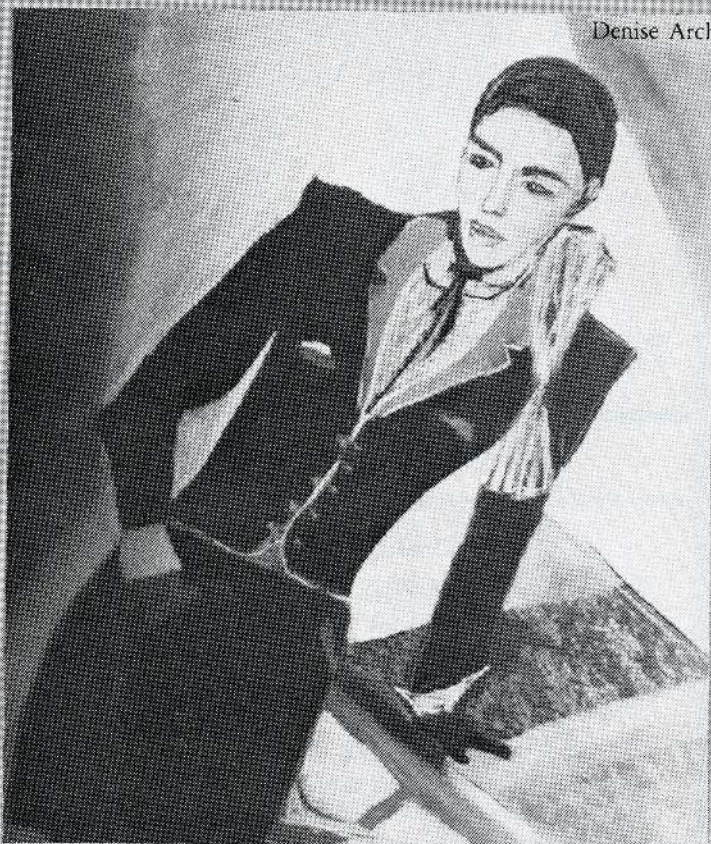

It's hard to believe
 When you believe in a friend,
 Something's amiss
 And you're hurt in the end.
 You've tried as you might
 But can only be you.
 And you can't change yourself
 For the want of a few.
 Deceit hurts the soul
 Why must some lie?
 Sooner than they think
 I'll warrant they'll cry.
 But it's out of my hands.
 I can only be me.
 Friendship has no price
 And I'll not pay a fee.
 Some advice, my friend
 For you from me,
 Keep an eye on those "friends"
 That charge for their company.

"What's Love"

Love is a smile;
 Love is joy.
 Love is a tear;
 Love is a rainbow, for two to share.
 Love is kindness, sometimes pain;
 Love makes the old new again.

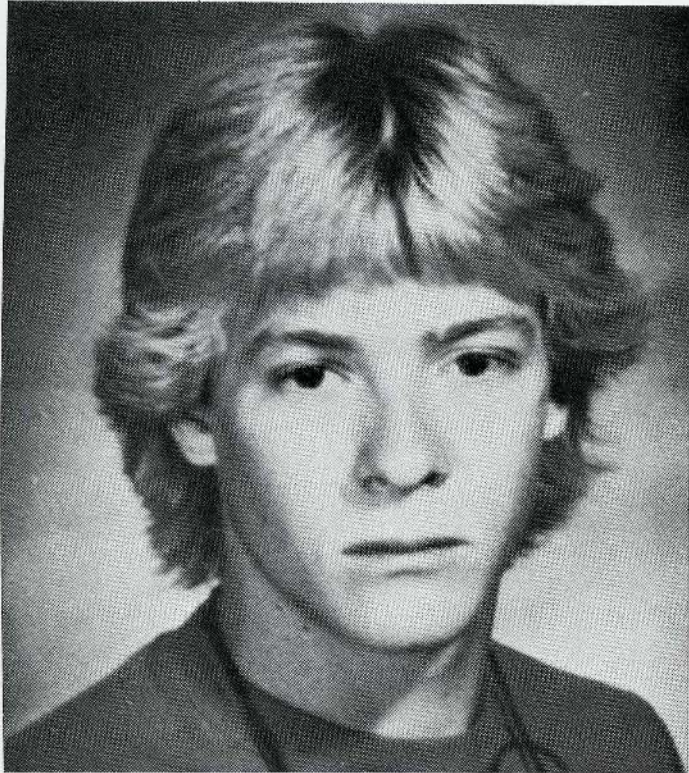

Love is the laughter that makes you cry;
 Love is the person that has said goodbye.
 Love is many beautiful things,
 There are no words I can use to explain.
 Love is a feeling that grows inside
 Love is a special, enormous pride.
 Love is the way you make me feel.
 Love is unconditional: "there's no 'Let's make a deal'".
 Love is everything to make a life,
 Love is everything to make a world,
 Love is special, there's no other word.

In Memory of Keith Allen

Keith Allen came to Bowman in April, 1985. He was going to Hart High School before coming to join our family.

He didn't talk a lot and when he did his voice was soft and low. He attended regularly and sat in class near his girlfriend. He would've been our first graduate of the year. He was part of our lives, and always will be.

He was a skilled motorcycle rider and was very coordinated. Friends called him Joe Namath.

Keith died on September 28, 1986, at age 18.
